State Police Trooper of Year Named

JOHN CHAMBERS

LITTLE ROCK—A 27-year-old Trooper assigned to the Jacksonville Patrol of the Arkansas State Police, today was named recipient of the Fourth Annual Trooper of the Year Award, sponsored by the Arkansas Petroleum Council.

Trooper John Chambers was selected to receive the award by members of the Arkansas State Police Commission. In making the selection, Commission members cited Chambers for his outstanding performance of duty which resulted in saving the lives of two children who were victims of a fire at their home in Jacksonville on June 15, 1966. The children's father and older sister died as a result of the fire.

According to State Police records, Trooper Chambers was on his way home after working all night patrolling the roads and highways in his area when he learned of the fire at the Newt Henderson residence by police radio. Chambers rushed to the home and attempted to enter the burning structure to rescue members of the family, but intense heat and smoke prevented his efforts. Using asbestos suits and smoke masks, firemen entered the house and handed the children to Trooper Chambers through a window.

He administered external cardiopulmonary resuscitation and mouth to mouth resuscitation to Terry Jo and Phillip Henderson before an ambulance arrived to take them to a hospital. Officials attributed the survival of the two children to Trooper Chambers' knowledge of proper revival procedures and their immediate application to the unconscious youngsters.

Chambers received a letter of commendation from Colonel Ralph D. Scott, Director of the Arkansas State Police, and was awarded the Certificate of Merit by the American Red Cross, which is the highest merit award the Red Cross can bestow on an individual. Trooper Chambers is the eighteenth recipient of the Red Cross Award in Arkansas since 1911.

The Arkansas Petroleum Council initiated the "Trooper of the Year" Award in 1965 and sponsors it annually. Trooper Chambers will be honored at ceremonies to be held during the 34th Annual Oilmen's Convention in Little Rock during November. Chambers will receive the 1966 "Trooper of the Year" Plaque; The Holiday Inns of America Award; several other gifts; and he and his family will be the guests of the Petroleum Council during the Convention.

Trooper Chambers was born in Cabot, Ark. His family moved to Indiana where he received his education, graduating from Bloomington, Indiana High School in 1958. After high school graduation, Chambers joined the Air Force, serving until 1961. He became a member of the State Police in July, 1965. Chambers is the son of Mrs. Newton Chambers of Clinton, Arkansas. He is married to the former Norma Joyce Hardisty, and they are the parents of two sons, Gregory, seven, and Brent, five.

The selection of the individual to receive the Petroleum Council "Trooper of the Year" Award is made by members of the Arkansas State Police Commission, based on certain qualifying standards and a review of records of all troopers. After selection of qualifications is ascertained, the final analysis for the selection is determined by acts of mercy, humanitarianism, and heroism in which candidates for the Award were involved.

Mexico City Has Quiet Night

By STRATFORD C. JONES

Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — After three nights of battling between students and police, Mexico's capital had a quiet night Thursday, and a highly placed official predicted the army would withdraw from the University of Mexico campus within three days.

The official said it was expected that the university rector, following a vote of confidence from the University Council, would be able to obtain government concessions which would bring the students back to classes from their two-month strike.

Rector Javier Barros Sierra resigned last Sunday in protest against the troops' invasion of the campus to keep the students from disrupting the Olympic Games starting Oct. 12. But Thursday night he accepted the University Council's decision refusing his resignation.

The official said the government believes that 75 per cent of the university's 80,000 students now want to return to classes.

A spokesman for President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz said the government also expects no great student problems during the Olympics, which will be held on the university campus. He said the government had received indications that any incidents will be isolated ones, fomented by hard core agitators.

The student strike council's demands include the firing of three top police officials, disbanding of the riot police, repeal of anti-subversion laws, indemnities for injured rioters and reaffirmation of university autonomy.

The violation of university autonomy by the entry of troops last week set off a wave of violence in Mexico City in which at least 15 persons were reported killed. The government has acknowledged five dead—two riot policemen, two students and a bystander—but says students could have carried away other bodies.

2 Dispute Chairmanship Conway Co.

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Two claimants emerged Thursday for the chairmanship of the Conway County Republican Committee—and a position on the county election commission. The dispute is between Ralph V. Childers, who has the backing of the state Republican party, and John P. Oliger, who shows credentials from the GOP county convention.

A temporary restraining order late Thursday from Circuit Judge Russell Roberts prohibiting Childers from serving as chairman and prohibiting County Clerk Jack Bland from swearing in Childers.

The newly constituted three-member county election commission held its first meeting Thursday and Oliger sat in as the Republican chairman. Childers declared that the meeting was illegal.

Childers was appointed by the state board of Election Commissioners Sept. 16 as a member of the county commission. However, he couldn't take his seat Thursday on the commission because he had never received the oath of office that is mailed to each appointee by Secretary of State Kelly Bryant.

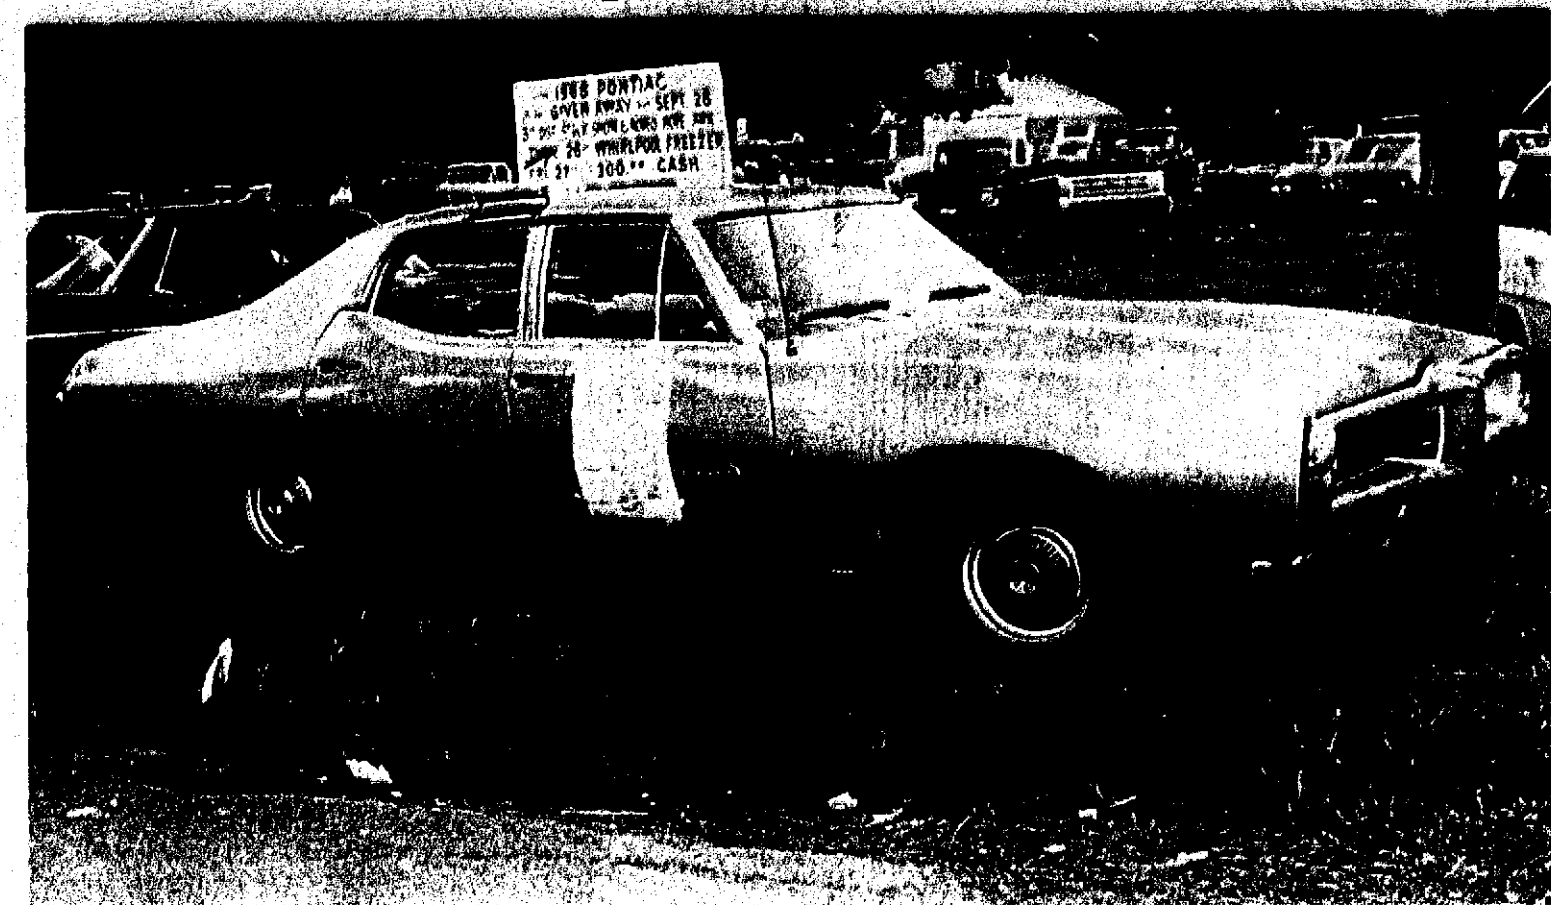

Truman Altenbaumer, executive secretary of the state GOP, said Thursday he went to Bryant's office Wednesday to straighten out the matter, but that the oath didn't get to Childers in time for the meeting of the county commission.

Altenbaumer said Childers represented a group in Conway County that was seated at the Republican state convention earlier this month in a seating contest with a faction headed by Oliger. Altenbaumer said Childers' group has been recognized by the state party as the rightful county committee and Childers as the rightful chairman.

Oliger's attorney, Felver A. Rowell of Morrilton, said, however, that Oliger was named chairman of the committee at a meeting of the county committee Aug. 19 and that Oliger received the oath of office Sept. 9.

Each county election commission is composed of the Democratic county chairman, the Republican county chairman and a representative of the "majority" party.

said efforts to brand Fortas as a purveyor of dirty movies are as "obscene and distasteful as the movies themselves."

"Some of the public may have achieved the erroneous impression that Justice Fortas has been an approving viewer of these films," Hart said. "But certainly all of the public has the more accurate impression that senators, however righteously disapproving, have been slipping into innumerable private showings."

Fortas sided with the majority in several technical rulings that reversed lower court findings that some films were obscene. Opponents have made his votes a major issue and have held viewings of the films in their bid to gather support.

Arkansas Dedication Is Set

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Plans for the Arkansas River navigation dedication ceremony next Friday are proceeding on the assumption that President Johnson will deliver the principal address, Charles D. Maynard said Thursday.

Maynard, chairman of the steering committee for the dedication, said that for security reasons the President might not accept the invitation until the last minute.

He said Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., had been in touch with White House aides, and "We still anticipate that the President will be here."

The ceremony, scheduled for 11 a.m. next Friday, will be at the David T. Terry Lock and Dam 10 miles downstream from Little Rock.

It will mark the opening of the navigation channel to Pine Bluff and Little Rock, scheduled for late December.

Union Barge Line Corp. of Pittsburgh said Thursday it planned to deliver by river two loads of steel to Little Rock late this year.

Lt. Col. Eduard L. Scharff, assistant district Army engineer, said spillway gates will be lowered at Lock and Dam No. 3 north of Grady Dec. 1, at No. 4 downstream from Pine Bluff Dec. 10 and at No. 5 north of the Pine Bluff Arsenal Dec. 20 to allow opening of the channel by Christmas.

Army Engineers and the Coast Guard Auxiliary said they were encouraging travel by boat on the river to the dedication ceremony.

north of the provincial capital, which was the target of an attack Wednesday in which 135 of the enemy were killed.

The attacks in Tay Ninh Province and intelligence reports of other enemy forces maneuvering in the area brought massive B52 strikes. Of 10 raids by the big bombers in the past 24 hours, nine went into Tay Ninh Province and some 800 tons of bombs fell on the principal infiltration route toward Saigon, 70 miles to the southeast.

While Tay Ninh Province was the scene of the heaviest action, U.S. headquarters reported more fighting in the northern provinces and three helicopters and a U.S. Marine jet were shot down there. Four of the helicopter crewmen and two Marine fliers were killed, and two helicopter crewmen were wounded.

The loss of the three helicopters brought to 11 the number of choppers shot down in the past week in South Vietnam.

The Marine jet and two of the choppers were downed Thursday in support of U.S. Americal Division troops who along with fighter-bombers, gunships and artillery killed 388 North Vietnamese regulars in a three-day running battle on the coastal lowlands of Quang Tin province.

Since the end of a two-month lull in the fighting in August, almost all significant combat has

Revival at Calvary to Begin Sunday

Calvary Baptist Church announces special revival services beginning Sunday, Sept. 29. Rev. Bill Probasco, pastor of Stamps First Baptist Church will do the preaching. Thomas Simmons of Calvary Baptist Church will lead the singing. Services are at the regular time on Sunday, and at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily, Monday through Saturday. A prayer session will be held each night at 6:45.

He has earned a master's degree from Luther Rice Seminary in Jacksonville, Fla. He has been the pastor in Stamps for the past fifteen months. He is married and has three daughters.

The church choir will bring special music each night. They will sing "Like a River Glorious," "Thy Word Have I Hid in My Heart," "Hold the Fort," and others. Special music will also be offered by Bro. Simmons and others. Congregational singing will be an important part of the service each evening.

Calvary Baptist Church is located at 1201 West Avenue B. A nursery will be provided each service for parents convenience. All are invited to the services 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart and French Foreign Minister Michel Debre at the assembly provided a chance for them to discuss outstanding issues. All are expected within 10 days.

The secretary-general offered to draw up a provisional agenda for the ministers and added:

"Hopefully, a meeting of the foreign ministers could lead to a meeting of the heads of state and governments of the four major powers. I feel that some such initiative is needed at the present time to counteract the serious setback to the detente in East-West relations that has resulted from recent events."

"I believe that some such special effort may also prove useful in identifying some major issues with regard to which, despite present adverse circumstances, big power agreement may be possible."

Tiant strongly criticized the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia and the U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic.

"It is certainly a frightening commentary on the ominous state of world affairs," he said, "that one super state or the other can become exercised to the point of resorting to military action because of the liberalization of a regime in a small country like Czechoslovakia, or because of an internal upheaval in another state, such as the Dominican Republic."

He repeated his belief that a halt to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam would lead to meaningful peace talks, and that the source of the Vietnam conflict is nationalism and not the collision of democracy and communism.

Chrysler Cuts Back Price Hike

DETROIT (AP) — The Chrysler Corp. cut back Thursday on its price increases for 1969 models, bringing them into line with Ford Motor Co. and General Motors boosts.

Chrysler's increase of an average of $94 per car, which was criticized by the White House when announced last week, was reduced to $52. Ford's increase averages $47 a car and GM's is $49.

It was the third consecutive year that Chrysler announced its new car prices first, then cut them back when Ford and GM came out with smaller increases.

American Motors Corp., will announce its prices for new models on Monday when its offerings will be unveiled in showrooms.

"I think it would go without saying, it wouldn't be wise for an auto company in light of the prices announced by the others, to do anything radically different," said one American Motors source.

The list prices announced by the Big Three automakers do not include federal excise taxes, dealer preparation and handling charges, state and local taxes and shipping costs.

Chrysler made no mention Thursday of prices on optional equipment which in its original price list was included in an across-the-board 2.9 per cent increase.

"Most of the prices announced last week have been reduced and some increased to maintain a competitive position in each car line," said the Chrysler announcement.

The firm also made additional revisions in its warranty program which was changed in the original announcement Sept. 11. The 1969 model warranty included a five-year or 50,000-mile

In a change Thursday, Chrysler said a second owner could benefit from the unused portion of the warranty if he would register the car and pay a $25 fee and if the car had been properly maintained.

Chrysler a year ago announced list price increases for its 1968 models averaging $147.94 but this was cut back to $115.82 after competing companies came up with smaller increases.

In the 1967 model run, Chrysler first announced average increases of $111.32 and later this figure was trimmed to $78.58.

McLean told a meeting, however, that the government "would never deny basic food and shelter to the genuine needy."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gene Kelly will display his dancing form on the Jackie Gleason television show Saturday night, but it will mark only a temporary return to his hoofing heyday.

"Dancing is an avocation for me now," he remarked after a workout prior to leaving for the Miami Beach telecast. "I found out that I don't have to dance to be happy."

It wasn't an easy lesson, Kelly admitted. For 25 years on Broadway and in films, dancing was almost his whole existence. No one worked harder at it than Gene Kelly. Not even Fred Astaire, who was noted for his strict regimen. Kelly's style required an athleticism that could be sustained only by constant fitness.

"Then in 1956 I tore the cartilage in my knee while skiing," he said. "It was two whole years before I could dance again. For a guy who has been dancing all his life, that was tough to take. But I began to realize there was something else I could do to make a living."

That was directing. Kelly has just finished directing the most expensive musical of film history, "Hello, Dolly!" Outside his 20th Century-Fox office stands a portion of the $2-million New York street set on which he had maneuvered 4,000 extras a few weeks before. Total cost of the film is reported at $20 million.

"That's down from the original budget of $27 million," he remarked airily. "We found some ways to save money."

Kelly started work on the film in October, 1967. Rehearsals with Barbra Streisand, Walter Matthau and the other principals began last January and shooting started April 15. Kelly said the last "cut" on the major photography Aug. 21, then laid off for a couple of weeks and returned for a few minor shots, which ended the day before his departure for the Gleason show.

The economics of his two functions are curious. He observed:

"I will make more on the Gleason show in one day than I will in two weeks of directing. No doubt about it, the performers are the top dogs nowadays. It's a performer's market."

But he has no regrets about choosing direction over dancing. "There comes the point in every dancer's life when he's got to quit altogether or start cutting down," he observed. "I felt it. I would require three months to get into solid shape, and another three months before I could get into the ring. Even then, I wouldn't be able to do what I used to do."

Kelly will continue with

Catholics in Revolt Seek a Test Case

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Protests in Washington, D.C., may become a test case for American Catholics dissenting against the Pope's ban on artificial birth control.

In Washington, Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle's insistence on compliance with the order has brought church walkouts and defiance by some priests.

Cardinal O'Boyle has penalized 13 priests and threatened penalties to 31 others for refusing to withdraw their objections to the encyclical.

"Throughout the country, many bishops apparently are waiting to see how the crack-down there comes off," said Toby Stein, communications chairman of the National Association of Catholic Laymen.

"If it works, some may go ahead with similar measures. That's why it's so important that the effort there be countered."

Elsewhere, there has been scattered lay conflict with ecclesiastical authority, including a walkout of a half dozen people from St. Patrick's Cathedral here.

But most of the lay opposition has been in statements and studies, as has that of some clergymen. Few bishops have acted to force a showdown, although Bishop James A. McNulty, of Buffalo, N.Y., did transfer seven dissenting faculty members from a seminary.

Some laymen and priests have voiced support. The board of directors of the National Council of Catholic Men, a lay body under episcopal supervision, said papal authority on birth control "cannot be rejected."

Fifty-three Jesuit professors at Fordham University here also backed the encyclical, as did 16 faculty members at Immaculate Conception Seminary in Darlington, N.J.

Many institutional theologians have taken opposing views, and 735 priests across the country signed a statement originated at the Catholic University of America in Washington defending conscientious dissent.

Among laymen, there have been protest "pray-ins" in some European churches, along with a petition for the encyclical's revision by a meeting of 5,000 West German laymen.

A Gallup poll indicated 54 per cent of American Catholics oppose the contraception ban, and 65 per cent think it possible to practice contraception and remain a "good Catholic."

Public opinion polls abroad found 70 per cent of Dutch Catholics think the encyclical is wrong, and half of French Catholics think it should be ignored.

In Philadelphia, an assembly of Pax Romana, an organization of lay Catholic intellectuals to promote cultural development, said the matter needs "further investigation" and varying views should "not be considered disloyal."

At a meeting of the National Student Association in Manhattan, Kan., student presidents from 20 Catholic campuses said the encyclical did not represent "the consensus of the majority of the Church" and jeopardized its unity.

The National Association of Laymen, which claims more than 12,000 members in 19 chapters across the country, says Catholics must "prayerfully and consciously consider their own situation" in deciding "the proper means of birth regulation."

In Boston, a meeting of the Catholic Canon Law Society, involving clergy experts on Church law, went on record as opposing use of ecclesiastical sanctions to suppress "the proper expression of dissent in an area where men of good conscience and theological competence are divided."

In Washington, more than 400 laymen walked out of at least five churches last Sunday—200 of them out of St. Matthew's Cathedral—when Cardinal O'Boyle's letter was read insisting on acceptance of the encyclical.

ANTIQUE ARMCHAIRS are not what they seem to be for they are made of glazed pottery, not wood. Derek and Dianne Smithson use the seats, which were found by Robert McGuffie when he moved into his country house at Whittrig, England. Until he cleared the weeds which covered them, he thought they were wooden. Each chair carries the date 1869 and McGuffie is trying to trace their origin.

go toward Fort Smith before turning back.

John Andrew Wiederkehr was one of many Swiss families to decide in 1880 that the area resembled the Alps of home and settled to renew farming traditions they had left in the old country.

And like any self-respecting European, Wiederkehr began making wine for the family's meals. So did his Swiss neighbors, whose names also survived in the world of wine—Post brothers and Sax, also of Altus, for example.

With no liquor store about, miners and others began to turn to the Swiss community for alcoholic beverages, which were mostly wines, made from persimmons and wild blackberries.

Local success spurred many of the wine makers to turn to grapes, the nectar of vintage wines. Soon the region took to mass grape growing.

The prohibition era nearly devastated the wine industry. The Wiederkehr's turned to raising table grapes. But the art of making wine was never lost and it revived when prohibition ended.

Today, 90 per cent of Arkansas' native wines are produced within a four-mile radius of Altus.

The grape festival returned in 1963 when Al Wiederkehr, attempting to buy wine grapes on the national market, encountered buyers and sellers that considered the Ozarks for hill-billies—not wines of distinction.

A quick investigation by Wiederkehr revealed that a wealth of heritage blended from the Italian, German and French ancestry typical of Switzerland belonged to the community of 392.

Tomstones in the hillside cemetery bore the same surnames as those on stones centuries old in a moss-covered mountainside at Meiderwil.

The Catholic Church in Altus was built from sandstone quarried nearby. Its walls bear murals by a German painter. From the vineyards of Wiederkehr's, one can see the Order of St. Benedict Monastery, carved a century ago from native stone.

At the festival, guests and local families are encouraged to wear lederhosen (deer-skin shorts) and other items of Swiss garb. Games and German, French and Italian drinking and festival songs have been introduced.

HELEN HELP US!

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! in this newspaper. DOUBTING THOMAS HAS REASON FOR DOUBT

Dear Helen: Is it possible for a woman to love her husband, yet all but throw him at another woman?

It appears to me that my wife arranges to be somewhere else whenever this divorcee friend of hers is around. The friend is a knock-out. She is not burdened with morals, and has let me know that she might be interested. I'm as human as the next man, but I'm resisting because: 1. I am not an adulterer at heart; and 2. I can't figure out my wife.

I know, she loves me. I am blessed with that rare female who thinks of her man before she thinks of herself. Could it be she figures I'm missing something that every man should experience; or is she putting temptation in my way to test my stamina?

Or, a thought just struck me, does she want a rest from being a wife? An excuse for separate beds? — DOUBTING TOM

Dear Tom: Why, for Pete's sake, don't you ask your wife? Two marriage rules you evidently haven't learned are: On emotional matters, don't ever try to outguess a woman; and don't ask another woman to do your guessing for you! — H.

Dear Helen: "Puzzled Bride to Be" wanted to know how she could avoid children at her wedding and reception. I'm thoroughly disgusted at the trend toward omitting children from family affairs. Even though it cost more to feed them, what's another $50 for dinners when you're already spending around a thousand for everything?

When our daughters are married, the invitations will include the whole family. And we're not wealthy!

Small children are more thrilled by a wedding than are many adults, and they often behave better! There's nothing sweeter than a bridal snapshot with a young relative. I'd be tempted to send my regrets if the bride indicated the wedding was a "no-children" affair. — MRS. J.S. L.

Dear Helen: You printed letters from mothers of children who "had to get married." They shouldn't feel self-pity. After all, they now have sons-in-law and grandchildren.

But what of the parents whose daughters refuse to get married?

Our child was raised properly in a family that prayed and played together. Her young man is a wonderful fellow, one we would be glad to welcome as a son. But she won't even see or call him because he doesn't know she is expecting. She simply broke up with him and gave no explanation.

We will never see our first grandchild. I go to bed each night crying, though I try to put on a brave front when we visit her at the "home." There seems to be no medication for a broken heart. My greatest consolation is found in prayer. Sometimes I hate to leave the church for I feel secure there. I stay for hours talking to the Lord.

I would take the baby myself, but I am so tired and I long for the freedom I shall have this year. You see, the youngest of our six children started school in September. I have looked forward for 20 years to the time I could get out and perhaps join charitable organizations or just visit with friends.

Helen, what is the answer for mothers like me? The day of this child's birth will be a black day every year of my life. — Mrs. L.D.C.

Dear Mrs. C.: Seems to me you're hiding behind self-pity and prayer when you should try direct action. Tell the young man he is about to become a father. He may solve your problems with some direct action of his own. That is, if he can break through the guilt which may now be stifling your daughter. — H.

Czech TV, Radio Chiefs Ousted

By GENE KRAMER

Associated Press Writer

PRAGUE (AP) — The Czechoslovak government ousted the liberal chiefs of the national radio and television but still was reported today in near deadlock with the Kremlin over conditions for withdrawal of occupation troops.

The official Soviet news agency Tass complained Wednesday that most Czechoslovak newspapers, radio and television stations remain under control of persons unfriendly to the Soviet Union, and that some Czechoslovak leaders have praised those "leading the mass media along the antipathetic road."

It was not known whether the Tass commentary was written before the dismissed Wednesday of Jiri Pelikan and Zdenek Hejzlar, who had been sent on vacations more than two weeks ago with the expectation they would not return to their posts. The Kremlin wanted them out.

Pelikan, 42, was credited with organizing the underground radio and television broadcasts that rallied the nation's almost unanimous passive resistance to the occupation.

Quiescence of the broadcasting chiefs was balanced by continuing statements defending the conduct of rank-and-file press, radio and TV workers who operated underground in the first week of the occupation.

Our recent columns have shown rewards for greed, or at least for overbidding. Today's hand shows it properly punished.

The first time we saw this hand played we were sitting in back of South and noted that North almost fell off his chair when he heard his partner open one spade.

We expected to hear a tremendous bid and we did. This North bid four no-trump! South showed his two aces and North asked for kings with five no-trump. South showed no kings but North, not discouraged bid seven no-trump!

East led a heart. North went right up with dummy's ace and tried the club finesse. It lost and the defense took four heart tricks to set North five at his greedy man's contract. As we left the table North was explaining that he thought his partner would hold the queen of clubs because he did not hold any kings and anyway, he was trying for a top.

We followed the hand to the next table where sat Mike and Gail Moss, one of the best of the many young married couples who play tournament bridge.

You see there is no simple, standard expert way to bid this hand. We sat in back of Mike who was North. He also sort of jumped when Gail opened one spade. Then he thought awhile and bid five-no-trump.

This bid is the grand slam force: first invented, by, Ely Culbertson back in the early thirties. It asks partner for one thing and one thing only. That is quality of his trumps.

Gail held two of the three top honors and a six card trump suit. That was plenty of quality for her seven spade bid.

Seven spades makes with little or no trouble. All declarer has to do is to set up dummy's clubs by ruffing a couple of them. Gail had no trouble working out the play.

♥CARD Sense♦

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ A Q 8 7 6 ♥ A K 9 5 4 3 ♦ 2 ♠ 2
What do you do now?

A—Bid four no-trump. You plan to go to six if your partner shows one ace.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner responds five hearts to show two aces. What do you do now?

Identical Shirts at Party Stir Up Feud for (Guess What?) Men

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — "When they met at a party wearing the same shirts they were simply 'furious,'" said Michael Fish of two of London's arch style rivals, the Duke of Bedford and Lord Montagu of Beaulieu.

To compound matters, Fish, who had made their shirts, was also at the party in the identical ruffly silk design. Since then he has learned to be more careful.

So have the gentry who swarm to his London shop to buy the dandiest duds since Beau Brummel. To guarantee theirs will be the only shirt of its kind, they buy the remainder of the fabric.

In America, fashion-consciousness among men has not yet reached this level of competition, but the lean young man from Pocatello plans to hasten the day.

He is here briefly to set up fish bowls, or men's boutiques, in department stores where his colorful, broad-lapel suits, fancy shirts and kipper ties will be displayed.

In London no one crooks a neck at the slouched six-footer with flinty blue eyes, angular face and bronze hair that curls around his ears and nape of his neck. Yet, Fish said, glancing at his burnt-orange suit worn with a matching embroidered silk turtle-necked shirt, "People stare at me in New York."

Fish believes gloomy weather is responsible for reviving colorful and uninhibited dress in England. "It cheers you up," he says.

"I can vouch for that," said a distinguished-looking gray-eyed man in a gray-striped silk shirt and white silk Mr. Fish suit.

"When I was a stockbroker and dressing to please my father I felt draggy and dull."

After I was married, I felt sure enough of myself to go to Mr. Fish and buy shirts that were individual. Now I feel just marvelous.

The man providing the test-monial was Berry Sainsbury, heir to a British supermarket chain fortune.

Actually older men wear

some avant garde garments better than the young, Fish says, although American men in the over-50 age group are discouragingly reluctant.

"Many youths are too pale to wear purple well," says Fish, 27 and a bit pale himself. "Purple takes a strong-looking man with graying hair, a self-assured air, and a belly out to here."

But Title Is to Be 'Mr. Universe'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The "most beautiful body in the universe" will be selected Saturday night when 40 glistening contestants, stripped to the waist, parade before seven judges and exhibit themselves to best advantage.

Wearing only brief, skin-tight bikini bottoms, they will be judged solely on the symmetry of their bodies. Special emphasis is placed on chest and leg development.

Such artificial devices as makeup and hairspray are strictly taboo. Only baby oil is permitted.

And only after the judges see each contestant from every angle and watch them strike a number of "classic poses" will they name "Mr. Universe of 1968."

"The contestants are judged, strictly on their bodies," says Walt Framer, whose job is to stage the production. "It's like a horse show when the judges measure the forelock or the length of a tail in a dogshow."

The winner will be the man with the best over-all body symmetry, not necessarily the most heavily muscled. There also will be awards for most muscled, best legs and best chest.

Final Tuneup for World Series

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
St. Louis and Detroit go through their final World Series tuneups as baseball's regular season draws to a close this weekend with a batting title and several positions in the standings up for grabs.

In the National League, Cincinnati's Pete Rose and Pittsburgh's Matty Alou move into their final three games tied for the batting lead at .332. The Reds are at home for a three-game series with San Francisco while the Pirates close the schedule with three in Chicago.

In addition to the batting race, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh are involved in a four-team battle for third place. The Reds occupy that spot going into the final weekend but are only one game ahead of Chicago and two up on Atlanta and Pittsburgh.

Lower in the NL standings, Los Angeles and Philadelphia are tied for seventh place and New York has a one-game lead over Houston in the battle to avoid a cellar finish.

The Phillies are at New York, Los Angeles at Atlanta and Houston at St. Louis to finish the season.

In the American League, Boston holds a one-half game edge over Cleveland in the battle for third place after the Indians absorbed a 7-1 whipping from Baltimore in the only game played Thursday.

Dave McNally won his 22nd with a six-hitter and contributed two hits, driving in one run and scoring two.

The Indians, because of a cancellation against Washington last week, have only one game left to play—tonight against Baltimore—while the Red Sox have three left against New York.

Fifth place New York has a one-game lead over Oakland with the Yankees finishing their season with the three games in Boston while the Athletics close with three against Minnesota.

There's an eighth place showdown set at Anaheim where the California Angels host a three-game series against the Chicago White Sox. The Angels are in eighth place going into the series, one game up on the Sox. Last place Washington, 1½ games behind Chicago, closes with three games at Detroit.

The Tigers plan to start John Hiller tonight with Joe Spahn and Pat Dobson working the final two regular games. That leaves 31-game winner Denny McLain with eight days rest if Manager Mayo Smith chooses to use him in next Wednesday's Series opener.

Bob Gibson, St. Louis' likely first game pitcher, gets his final Series tuneup tonight against the Astros. The Cards will pitch Steve Carlton Saturday and Ray Washburn on Sunday.

2 Champs Favored to Win

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) —

World lightweight champion Carlos "Teo" Cruz of the Dominican Republic and World Boxing Association featherweight king Raul Rojas of California are favored to retain their laurels in twin-titling 15-round fights tonight.

The 30-year-old Cruz, who whipped Carlos Ortiz in 15 rounds for the 135-pound division crown June 29, is an 8-5 betting choice to turn off the dream of Mando Ramos to become the first teenager to win the lightweight title. The Long Beach youngster will be 20 Nov. 15.

Rojas, 26, Ramos' stablemate from neighboring San Pedro, is a 6-5 favorite to reverse a 10-round decision he lost here June 6 to Sho Saito of Tokyo in a nontitle struggle at the Olympic Auditorium.

The Olympic Boxing Club's promoter, Aileen Eaton, moved his twin-feature into huge Memorial Coliseum, a demand decision because of the tremendous popularity of Ramos and Rojas with local fans.

Cruz was guaranteed $60,000 to make the first defense of the title. Rojas gets $40,000 and Ramos and Saito each will collect $10,000.

Bucks 1st Real Test for Cats

By RALPH ROUNTON

Star Sports Writer

Although we've dreaded it and dreaded it, the time has finally come for the Hope Bobcats to make their biennial journey to Smackover for a taste of rough football from the Buckaroos in their Homecoming game.

If both teams were at full strength, it would be hard to keep from giving a two-touchdown margin to our Bobcats. But Hope is not running at full strength by any means, and thus it should be a tight game.

Through all the injuries, thank goodness, Hope's offensive and defensive backfields were not affected save a bruised hip suffered by fullback Jim Alford, which has bothered him most of the week. Jim will be ready to go tonight, though, as he was able to run full steam in yesterday's light workout.

Coach Ronnie Higgins, after reviewing films of Smackover, will likely stick with the 15-20 passes a game which was so successful against DeQueen last week. The Bucks were picked apart literally by the tough Fairview Cardinals last week, and the Bobcats' passing attack is every bit as potent.

That defensive secondary is needed because of QB David Chenoweth, who evokes head-shaking when he starts uncoiling some bombs. His receivers had better be in shape, however, or they'll get murdered by the likes of David Still and Dillon Wheelington, who both have able replacements to back them up.

Let me take this time to encourage anyone reading this early enough to join the caravan to Smackover tonight. For all those interested, the caravan plans to leave from the high school between 5:15 and 5:30 p.m. Any cars making the trip are asked to join in on the group, which will pull into Smackover in plenty of time for the kick-off.

With the kind of support the Bobcat fans can give, the stands should be packed with people standing around in the visitor's section tonight. If you are unable to make the trip, then KXAR is broadcasting the battle live and play-by-play, with the coaches' interview beginning at 6:30 p.m.

So Hope plays Smackover, with all official sources picking the Bobcats. This writer follows suit, pitying Coach Solomon as he scouts Malvern against Little Rock Catholic. He will miss a thriller, with Hope spoiling the Buckaroos' Homecoming game to the tune of 21-13.

NEW YORK (AP) — Detroit

should give pro football fans a good line on Green Bay Sunday.

If the Packers drop another one to a Central Division rival, they could be in real trouble.

The Lions romped over the Chicago Bears last week 42-0, intercepting eight passes after being left for dead in Dallas.

The Packers still are wondering what hit them when the Minnesota Vikings visited Milwaukee.

New Orleans' chances of upsetting the apparent in the Century Division could depend on the outcome of their home game with St. Louis. After what has been happening to Cleveland, St. Louis and Pittsburgh, the Saints are beginning to have ideas. We're picking the Saints in an upset.

Green Bay, Chicago and Washington let us down last week but the over-all record was 10-3 on a 5-3 in the NFL and 5-0 in the AFL. Let's try again. All games are Sunday unless otherwise indicated.

NFL

Green Bay 27, Detroit 21—Lions

high on cloud nine after that Bear game but Packers are in bad mood after losing to Vikings. This series among roughest in NFL. Last year they played 17-17 tie and 27-17 game, won by Packers. Bill Munson and Earl McCulloch, new pass-catch combo, will get real test from Packer pros.

Baltimore 33, Pittsburgh 14—With John Unitas still doubtful, Earl Morrall probably will be on job again. Steelers were run through the wringer at Los Angeles but aren't that bad. Teams haven't met since 1957.

Minnesota 27, Chicago 14—Time to begin to believe the Vikings and time to begin to doubt Bears' big early buildup. Much depends on Gale Sayers, who has had big days against Minnesota. Bears' passers so bad that eight were intercepted by Lions. Bill Brown of Vikes already has five TDs.

San Francisco 24, Atlanta 17—Falcons' attack still sputtering while 49ers hit stride against Cards and smeared passer four times. San Francisco won both games last year 38-7 and 34-28. It all depends on John Brodie's arm.

Dallas 35, Philadelphia 14—They split last year but Cowboys much too strong off first two games. Big bad Cowboy defense got Cleveland passer five times last week with Willie Townies in the lead. Don Meredith should be able to run Dan Reeves and Don Perkins at Eagles.

Los Angeles 27, Cleveland 14—Could be a real toughie in Cleveland with Browns hoping to get even for 30-6 beating in Playoff Bowl last winter. Rams' front four ready to feast on Frank Ryan. Nobody has scored on Cleveland in air yet but Roman Gabriel is coming off hot day against Steelers.

New Orleans 23, St. Louis 20—Upset special, Saints are dreaming big dreams after upsetting Washington. Cards not giving passer protection and offense having trouble getting on board although return of Charley Johnson as starting quarterback should help. Doug Atkins and Dave Whitsett leading New Orleans defense.

New York 33, Washington 24—Giants top league in rushing with Fran Tarkenton their ace. Skins' running game stek but Sonny Jurgensen leading the league with six touchdown passes. Could be a track meet with Skins chasing Frankie Fran and Sonny throwing the bomb.

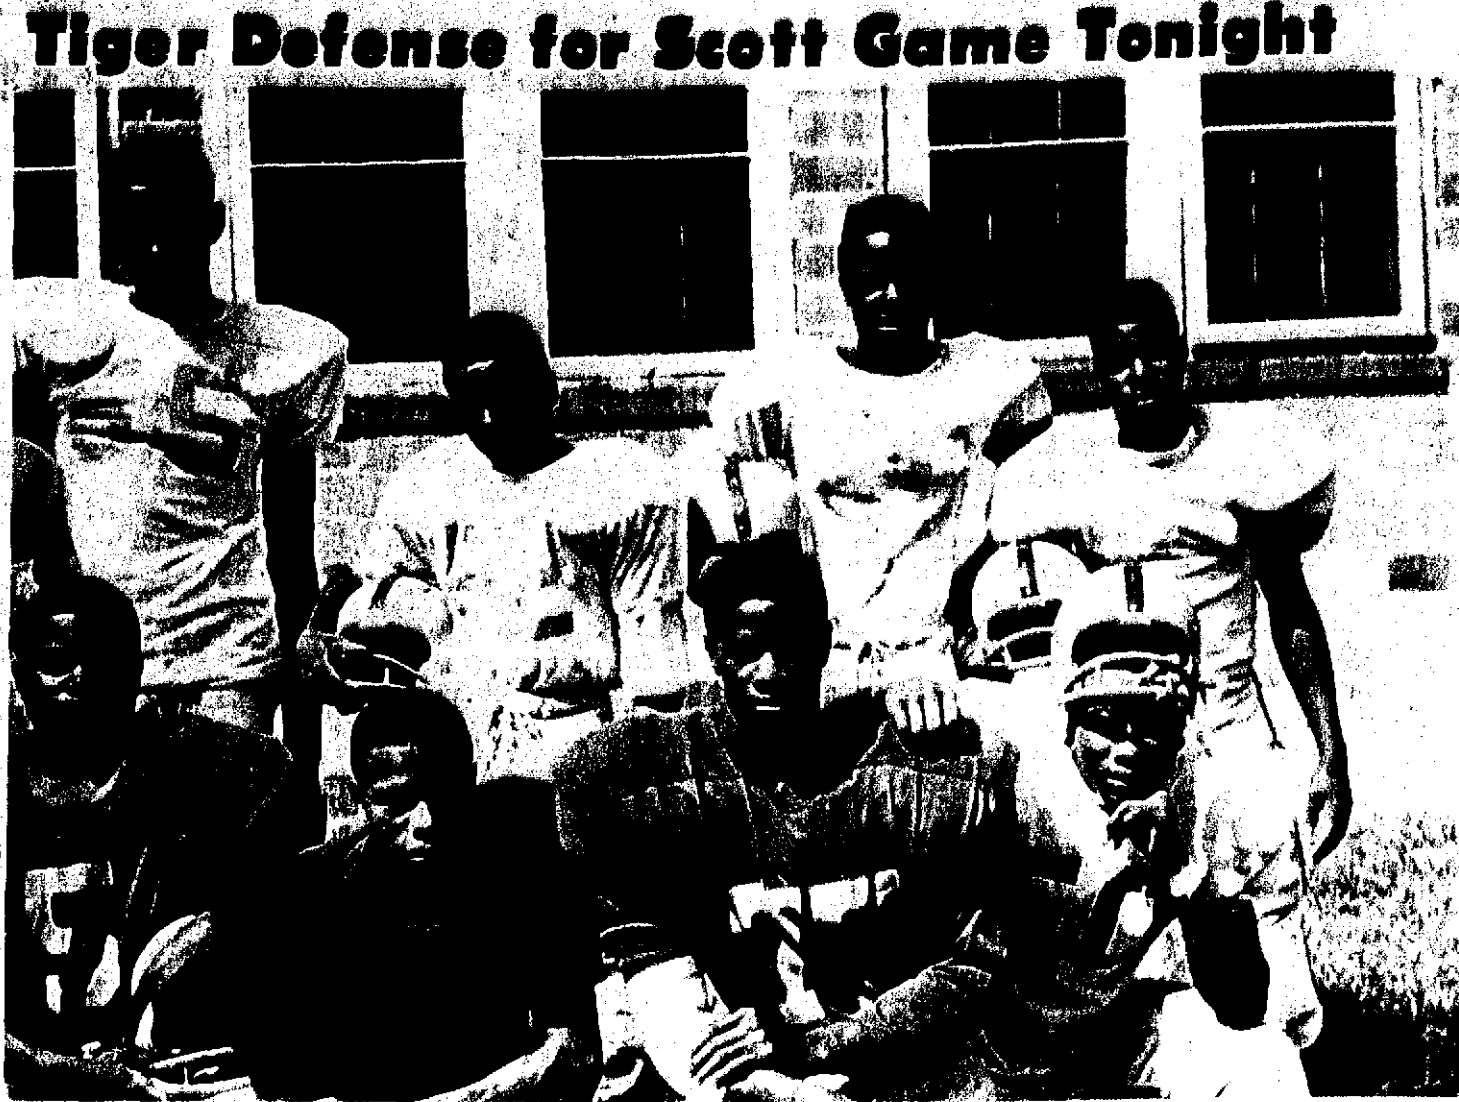

AFL

Kansas City 27, Miami 14

(Saturday night)—Chiefs' backfield battered with Mike Garrett, Curt McClinton and Bert Coan ailing and Len Dawson off beam. Dolphins still hurting badly but Bob Griese's passes may make it close.

San Diego 27, Cincinnati 13—Chargers should repeat earlier victory on first of three-game road trip but Bengals are all

Bobkittens Lose 13-2 to Beavers

By RALPH ROUNTON

Star Sports Writer

In an unbelievable one-man show, the Arkadelphia Beavers rode the back of halfback Luther Gulnn to a comeback 13-2 victory over the Hope Bobkittens at Williams Field in Arkadelphia last night.

It was Arkadelphia's third win against no losses, and their teams have now won ten straight. The defeat sunk Hope's mark to 2-1, but it wasn't without quite a fight.

To be sure, the Bobkittens were ahead 2-0 at the half and had a great chance of winning, but Mr. Luther Gulnn proceeded during the second half to lay his claim to the Super Luther title. In those last two quarters he picked up 63 yards rushing, returned a kickoff 80 yards for a TD, intercepted two passes, and scored his team's 13 points. Now try to beat that.

For a while, though, it looked like the Kittens would romp. The locals took the opening kickoff and marched to the Beaver 16-yard stripe before being held on downs. Then, on Arkadelphia's first possession, three consecutive losses pushed them into their end zone for a safety with 2:55 showing. The final six yards were lost by quarterback Danny Melton as he retreated to pass.

Therefore Arkadelphia had to kick off, and Hope proceeded to drive down the field for what would be their deepest penetration. As the opening segment ended, the Kittens rested on the Beaver 18, having beautifully controlled the ball at that stage. Three more gains gave the Bobkittens first and goal at the seven, and on first down Ray Wheelington broke to the one-foot line. Bad luck struck, however, as offensive holding was called on Hope, and the 15 yards gave us a first down and goal from the 22. Four plays could only get the pligskin back to the 16, where Arkadelphia took over on downs.

Now the Beavers were running only their second series of the game, and 3:15 was left in the first half. A couple of reverses got them out of the hole statistically, but the eleven-play, 50-yard drive stalled at the Hope 10.

charged up with two straight wins. Gene Foster replacing injured Brad Hubbert for San Diego. Paul Brown may have some surprises rigged up for Sid Gillman return to his old campus home.

New York 31, Buffalo 17—Jets should make it three in a row as Bills still grope for answers after dropping first three. Joe Namath usually has trouble with Buffalo defense, which is coming around but Bills' rookie attack still has problems. Another big day for Jets' defense, chasing Bills' QB.

Oakland 34, Houston 21—Unlabeled Oilers can stop powerful Raiders they can be almost out of race in early season. Oakland looked tough in rolling up 95 points in two games while smearing enemy passers 11 times. Oilers in Astro dome would like to wipe out memory of 40-7 beating in 1967 title game.

Boston 23, Denver 14—Both club having trouble with offense. Broncos have only 12 points to show for two games, missing Steve Tensi badly. Jim Nance should roll in late stages unless Broncos can take some pressure off their defense.

30, and the Kittens ran out the clock to lead 2-0 at the half. At this point it was easy to visualize a Bobkitten victory, with total dominance in statistics and perfect ball control throughout. But the tide turned quickly as Luther Gulnn stepped to the spotlight. He took the second-half kickoff, and was downed at the 30. Only he wasn't. Then he was stopped by three men at midfield. Only he wasn't.

It would go going into the books as a topsy-turvy 80-yard TD run-back, and it took quite a bit of wind missed, but Arkadelphia had their 6-2 lead. Now penalties and an effective pass rush pushed Hope into its own territory, where the third quarter was spent nearly entirely by both teams.

Then as the Kittens drove to the Beaver 37 very early in the last period, fullback and defensive stalwart Lynn Norton reinjured his weak ankle and was removed from the game. Gulnn intercepted on the next play, and Arkadelphia was in business with Norton out and the defensive middle virtually opened.

They moved quickly to the Bobkittens 38, where Gulnn took off for the outside corner and outran everyone else by ten yards. Luther ran the PAT, and with 3:45 on the clock it was 13-2. Neither team threatened too seriously after that, until Gulnn got his second interception at the end.

Wheelington led Hope rushers with 67 carries on 18 tries, but Tommy Miller was close back with 11 for 65 yards. Norton lugged it four times for 21 yards, and Steve Harris stepped through the line four times for 15 yards. The Bobkittens gave a great effort, and the defense did a great job of containing the outside for as long as they did.

Next Thursday night the Kittens return home against Camden, and they are now faced with the real challenge of coming back after losing a tough game, Camden, meanwhile, is slightly off average this year. Remember and try to make it.

Southern State Loses 17 to 7

CLINTON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi College scored 10 points in the third quarter here Thursday night to defeat Southern (Ark.) State 17-7, and send their season record to 2-1.

Mississippi College quarterback Andy Sumrall passed to flanker Tommy Patterson for the first Choctaw touchdown.

Reggie Shoemaker added a field goal to the Mississippi College scoring in the third from 35 yards out before Travis Elderidge powered in from the four to wrap it up.

Southern got its lone tally in the second period with Stanley May passing to Wayne Valonte from 19 yards out. Rusty Kauffman converted.

Razorbacks Meet Tulsa Saturday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas, seeking its second victory of the season, closes out preparations today for Saturday's battle with the Tulsa Hurricane in Razorback Stadium.

Coach Frank Broyles sent the Razorbacks through a 90-minute session in sweat clothes Thursday, with the offense putting in a secret practice in the stadium behind locked gates.

The only player listed as a question mark for Saturday's game is tackle Webb Hubbell. He was injured in a game last week.

By HARRY KING

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — At first glance, Arkansas would appear to have the advantage over Tulsa, the advantage of having played a game.

It isn't necessarily so, says Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles. He says Tulsa has the surprise element going for it.

"We have to prepare for anything," Broyles says. "It was reported that they made some minor change in their offense and changed their defense."

"Coach (Charley) Coffey and Coach Mervin Johnson say we have already prepared for four times more than we'll see," Broyles said.

Tulsa, the NCAA passing champion the past five years, fooled Arkansas in last year's 14-12 upset by gaining about as much on the ground as it did through the air.

"Last year they were successful in running so they didn't throw," Coffey said. "They've got just enough draws and screens to keep us from putting on an overload rush."

"We're small on defense and I don't know if we can put pressure on the passer with their combination of running and throwing," Coffey said.

"Their pass protection is very typical of Tulsa. They probably average 240 across the front."

Cee Ellison, a 223-pounder who had a good day against the Razorbacks last year, is back. He gained 681 yards on 153 carries for the Hurricane during the year.

John Dobbs, son of Tulsa Coach Glenn Dobbs, may be the starting quarterback. He is a 194-pound sophomore.

The prime receivers will be Harry Wood, who caught 53 passes last year, and Joe Pistola, a junior college transfer with sprinter speed.

The elder Dobbs viewed Arkansas' 32-15 victory over Oklahoma State University last week from the pressbox. He discounted any contention that the Hurricane would give Arkansas problems.

"We'll have problems every time we see it up," he said. "Why, my wife can block almost all of our linemen."

Broyles, however, doesn't believe a word of it. He's got the Razorbacks preparing for anything and everything.

Yergers to Play Scott 1st Time

By LINDA B. WILLIAMS

Yergers Sports Writer

Watch out! The Tigers are on the road again tonight. They are going to Scott, Arkansas. This is the first time in the history of Yergers that we shall play Scott.

Scouting, it was found, that Scott has a very slow offense, and what in the world could they have for a defense. So we shall go - see and conquer the Weavers.

The Tigers plan to lay championship at rest right at Tiger land. With playing like the last two games the Tigers will have what they want, "Look out Weavers here we come!"

The Tigers had so many good players last week, it was rather hard to choose two individuals for the Tigers of the week. Instead we have the following to tip our hats too, Robert Lee Scott, Thomas Garland, Estel Hendrix, Jerry Johnson and Horace Johnson.

Guess what! The Yergers High School marching band will travel to Scott tonight. The band has been through a developing process, but they are ready now. This is the band's first performance for the football season, under the direction of the band director, Thomas Jordan.

So from the Band and director come this cry — fight with all your might, because you have the music there tonight.

Tigers — we all want to say we're with you all the way, Fight!

Fans come along to Scott and keep up the boosting power. It feels as the winter and its chilly weather is here already. But it's just the type of weather for football. So let's load up the cars and travel along to Scott. I mustn't forget this most important thing. Scott is the Tigers' first conference game for the season.

Fair Weather for UA, Tulsa

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas-Tulsa football game at Fayetteville Saturday will be played under fair skies with the temperature in the mid-80s, the U.S. Weather Bureau said Thursday.

The bureau also said winds would be light and southwesterly at six to 12 miles an hour.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The powerful United States track and field may be thriving in training at Lake Tahoe, Calif., but archrival Russia is getting the competitive feel today right where the action will be in the high altitude 19th Olympic Games.

Russia's 72-member squad of men and women track athletes, cavorting at Mexico City's 7,300-foot altitude since Sept. 14, engages in a two-day international meet on the same type of plastic surfaced track as the Games will be run starting Oct. 13.

"We need a tune-up competition now that we have got accustomed to such problems as a nine-hour time change, the Tartan track and watching out stomachs on a diet change," said Russia's veteran Olympic coach, Gabriel Korobkov.

Among 15 or more entries in the practice meet, supervised by the International Amateur Athletic Federation, are Great Britain, East Germany, Cuba, Australia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Italy, Argentina, New Zealand, Belgium and host Mexico.

"This is just a warmup, but maybe some records will be broken," said Korobkov, "we may have more practice meets, on Oct. 4 and 5. I think the altitude factor has been overemphasized, except for perhaps the distance races. But what is needed is a competitive test under Mexico City conditions."

The U.S. track and field squad's arrival will not be completed until Sunday, Oct. 6, a week before the Games start. Only a handful of Uncle Sam's athletes—cyclists, divers and canoeists—are among the 3,171 athletes already assembled in the gleaming, gaily festooned Olympic Village complex, undisturbed by the tumultuous student rioting more than 12 miles to the north.

'Kill Purdue' Signs Stir Notre Dame

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The Kill Purdue signs are up at Notre Dame. The victory rallies are reaching an unreal crescendo. A maddening football scene is being set for Saturday.

Into the Poll Bowl maelstrom will march top-ranked Purdue against the No. 2 Irish, enthralling a sellout crowd of 59,000.

"The unique thing about this game," says Irish Coach Ara Parseghian, "is that it matches the No. 1 and No. 2 teams so early in the season. The attention enhances the image of Midwest football. And I look for plenty of scoring on both sides."

"The rivalry is bitter but the sportsmanship excels," says Boilermaker Coach Jack Mollenkopf. "In some rivalries as bitter as ours, the two schools just hate. But this thing is downright enjoyable."

Came plans have been set, but they might go down the drain early. "I don't think any plans are worth the paper they are written on," says Mollenkopf. "I'm sure Parseghian's game plan last year when we won 28-21 didn't call for him to have Terry Hanratty throw 63 passes."

The Hanratty catapult is loaded again. But he may release more quick passes to tight end Jim Winegardner than he does long ones to Jim Seymour. He may be forced into it by Purdue's rushmen who average 250 pounds and stand 6½ feet.

"They will be difficult for Terry to throw over if they come in with their hands high," admits Ara. Last year, Seymour caught six passes. Then, through desperation more than anything, Purdue put Leroy Keyes on defense to tail him. The 6-foot-4 Seymour caught only one after that.

Keyes—who runs, passes, catches and kicks—is a definite part of the defensive game plan Saturday. In addition to his chores on offense, he will be assigned to cover Seymour.

"If I'm not winded, I can handle Jim," says Keyes. "But we've got to have a good pass rush. If Terry gets more than three seconds to get rid of the ball, we could be in trouble. I think we will score more points against Notre Dame than we did last year."

Notre Dame, a touchdown favorite, has a powerful running game but no breakaway speed.

Pick TCU, Hogs, A. & M. to Win

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer
The SMU Mustangs were first to coin the "Excitement '68" slogan but the entire Southwest Conference seems to have rallied to the cause in the opening week of football.

Now comes the encore. And that'll be quite an undertaking Saturday as six conference members try to improve the league's interseasonal record and Texas and Texas Tech meet at Lubbock in the first league dispute.

Despite spectacular antics in virtually all the openers last weekend, SWC teams emerged with a 2-3-3 record and prospects for improving that record are only slightly better this week.

Three conference teams—SMU Baylor, and Rice—will retain their underdog roles this week while TCU, Arkansas and Texas A&M are favored over interseasonal foes. Texas is a one touchdown pick over the Red Raiders.

Saturday's pairings include Tulsa at Arkansas, Iowa at TCU, SMU at Ohio State, Baylor at Michigan State, LSU at Rice and A&M at Tulane.

The Texas-Texas Tech encounter will match two teams coming off ties in their openers. Upstart Cincinnati surprised Tech with a 10-10 deadlock and Texas fought tooth-and-nail for a 20-20 tie with Houston.

The game also will bring together teams whose passing attacks fizzled at inopportune times a week ago. Tech's starting quarterback Joe Matulich completed 10 of 20 passes for a mere 80 yards.

Texas' Bill Bradley completed more passes to the Houston team than he did to his own teammates. He connected on two of nine passes for 17 yards and had four interceptions.

"I was pretty well pleased after looking at the whole picture," Coach Darrell Royal said. "Obviously we've got work to do on passing. That certainly leaves something to be desired."

Tech's J. T. King also is concerned about his passing attack. "If the game is close, the team that is passing well will have the advantage," King said. "And I look for a real hard-fought ball game."

Tech will be the second test for Royal's new offense, which he calls a "wish-bone T", with fullback Steve Worster up a step behind the quarterback. Royal said he was generally pleased with the new look but the Longhorns needed better execution.

Although SMU, Rice, and Baylor, go into their games as underdogs, their performances last week were enough to cause nervous twitches among this week's opposition.

Rice Coach Bo Hagan, still seething over what he called a slow clock that allowed Washington to pull out a 35-35 tie, fully intends for his Owls to get revenge against Louisiana State.

Hagan insisted, with some support, that the official clock was manipulated to give the Huskies time to get in their game-tying 61-yard field goal in the closing seconds.

Coach John Brigidgers' Baylor Bears are still underdogs against Michigan State, but the Baptists gained a measure of respect for their offensive show against Big 10 co-champion Indiana in a 40-36 loss.

SMU's original excitement boys will go for another upset after trimming Auburn 38-27, with sophomore quarterback Chuck Hixson leading the way. Defending SWC and Cotton Bowl champion Texas A&M, losers to LSU 13-12 in the opener, venture into Louisiana for the second straight week seeking a winning formula.

The Aggies are favored but Tulane will be trying to shake the stigma of a 54-7 dunking by star like Keyes. Also of concern to Ara is his inexperienced secondary which could be picked to pieces by passer Mike Phipps. It will be up to the 1,000-pound Irish front four, headed by 270-pound Mike McCoy, to keep Phipps in the pressure cooker.

Damascus Bids for Year's Horse

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Buckpasser is retired from racing and Dr. Fager will not start, but Saturday's renewal of the Woodward Stakes will be just as important to Damascus as last year's running.

A defeat for Damascus in the 1¼-mile, $100,000 Woodward coming on the heels of his upset by Nodouble in the Michigan Mile and One-Eighth would severely damage his chances of repeating as Horse-of-the-Year.

Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's millionaire 4-year-old colt beat Buckpasser, with Dr. Fager third, en route to best-horse honors last year. In fact, since 1956 seven Woodward winners have been acclaimed Horse-of-the-Year.

Six or seven are expected to oppose Damascus Saturday. They include Gustave Ring's Grace Born, Blue Streak-Stable's Spoon Blat, Gedney Farm's Pairo, Mrs. Peter DuChin's Mr. Right, Bl Jay Acres' Fort Drum and Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Advocate.

Gene Goff's Nodouble will make his first start Saturday since upsetting Damascus when he goes in the 1-16-mile, $50,000 Hawthorne Diamond Jubilee Stakes for 3-year-olds at Hawthorne.

Nodouble has been assigned 119 pounds, one less than Te Vega and Francsull, the Brunswick Farms entry. A field of eight or nine is expected.

Other national features include the seven-furlong, $25,000-added Atlantic City Handicap at Atlantic City; the six-furlong, $15,000-added Peninsula Handicap at Bay Meadows; and the $7,500 Cranston Handicap over a mile and 70 yards at Lincoln Downs.

No. 1 Up for Grabs This Saturday

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Who's No. 1? Jack Mollenkopf says it's Notre Dame. Ara Parseghian says it's Purdue and both hope they're wrong.

The moment of truth will come Saturday afternoon when Mollenkopf and Purdue, top team in The Associated Press college football poll, invade South Bend, Ind., for the annual war with Parseghian and second-ranked Notre Dame.

"It's out of the frying pan and into the fire," Parseghian moaned after Notre Dame's convincing 45-21 rout of Oklahoma last Saturday. "They're a gifted ballclub. I don't think we can over-defense them."

"I don't think there's another college football team in the nation that can match Notre Dame on offense," wailed Mollenkopf, 44-7 victor over Virginia in the opener.

In other games involving members of the Top Twenty, ninth-ranked Nebraska is at Minnesota, ranked 17th, and No. 13 Indiana travels to Kansas, No. 12.

Elsewhere, O.J. Simpson and third-ranked California are at Northwestern, fourth-ranked Penn State entertains Kansas State, Florida, No. 5, is at Florida State and seventh-rated Alabama hosts Southern Mississippi at Mobile. Sixth-rated Texas is at Texas Tech and No. 8 UCLA faces Washington State at home in night contests, while Houston, rated 10th, is idle.

Ohio State, ranked 11th, opens its season at home against Southern Methodist, No. 15 Miami of Florida visits Georgia Tech, 16th-ranked Tennessee welcomes Memphis State, 18th-rated Oregon State is at Utah, Arizona State, No. 19 entertains Texas-El Paso and Wyoming, No. 20, is at the Air Force, Louisiana State, No. 14, visits Rice for a night game.

Purdue, led by All-American halfback Leroy Keyes, has split its last two meetings with Notre Dame and its Terry Hanratty, threw 63 passes.

"If I'm not winded, I can handle Jim one-on-one, even though he's two inches taller than I am and has great moves," says Keyes. Hanratty disagrees.

"I don't really think any defender in college football can cover Jim Seymour," he says. "Our big problem last year was that we couldn't contain Keyes," said Parseghian. "I don't fear him nearly as much on defense as on offense. If he covers Seymour... well, Hanratty is doing a much better job this year hitting his alternate receivers."

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Heredity Is a Factor In Some Psoriasis Cases

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I have scaly patches of psoriasis over my entire body. Can this disease spread to the inside? Would it help to bathe more frequently or would this aggravate it? Although my skin specialist says this disease is not catching, my daughter and son have it. Could it be that what they have is not psoriasis but a disease that resembles it?

A—Psoriasis almost never involves the mucous membranes but there is some evidence that the incidence of arthritis is higher in persons with this disease than in the general population. Bathing as often as needed for cleanliness helps to control psoriasis but excessive bathing is not recommended.

Methotrexate has been used to treat very severe cases such as yours but this treatment should be taken only under medical supervision, preferably in a hospital.

Although psoriasis is not contagious, heredity is a factor in some cases. Since no other disease closely resembles it, your children probably have psoriasis.

Q—How is a diagnosis of narcolepsy made? Is there a cure for it?

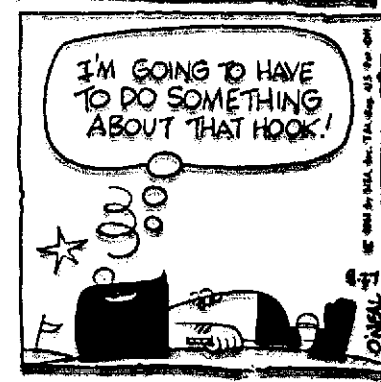

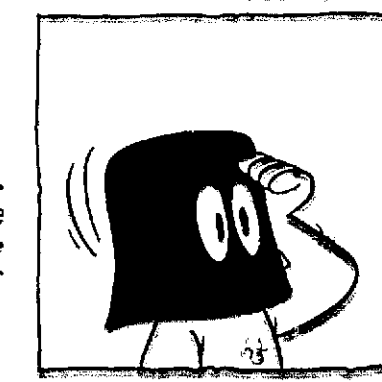

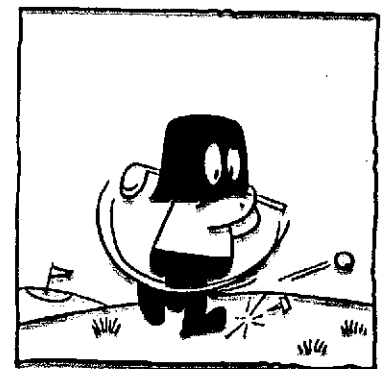

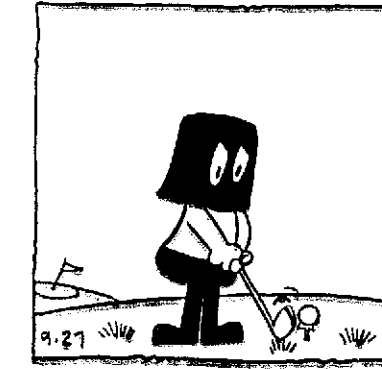

A—The diagnosis is based entirely on a history of uncontrollable sleepiness occurring several times a day. They may come on when a person is sitting, standing or even engaged in conversation. In one form of the disease, when the victim laughs he falls to the ground and, even though conscious, he may be unable to move for a minute or two. The cause is unknown. There is no cure but the victim may outgrow the attacks after several years. Meanwhile, frequent planned naps throughout the day, and taking amphetamine, may help to minimize the attacks.

Q—Four men from a local ranch are taking rabies shots because a veterinarian said that bats are among the worst carriers of this disease. How great is the risk? Our doctor says it is more important for a rancher to have tetanus shots. What do you think?

A—Rabies is a very serious disease and it may be transmitted by a bat bite. Persons who are at risk of being bitten by bats or any other rabid animals can be protected by a new HEP (high egg passage) or DEV (duck embryo) vaccine. The risk of tetanus following any deep wound that has been contaminated with

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Etienne de Silhouette, whose hobby was cutting out paper portraits, was French finance minister in 1759. The World Almanac says. Trying to increase revenues, Silhouette's policies were so severe that he was forced to resign after nine months. During this time the arts took on an austerity "a la Silhouette" (on the cheap) so that instead of painting portraits artists simply drew outlines in profile.

BUY ME! BUY ME! That's what these truncated statues seem to be saying, but their pleas fall on deaf ears. The figures, on sale at a Rome flea market, represent souls in purgatory and originally belonged to one of the floats participating in an Italian religious procession.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG
Heredity Is a Factor In Some Psoriasis Cases
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q-I have scaly patches of psoriasis over my entire body. Can this disease spread to the inside? Would it help to bathe more frequently or would this aggravate it? Although my skin specialist says this disease is not catching, my daughter and son have it. Could it be that what they have is not psoriasis but a disease that resembles it?

A-Psoriasis almost never involves the mucous membranes but there is some evidence that the incidence of arthritis is higher in persons with this disease than in the general population. Bathing as often as needed for cleanliness helps to control psoriasis but excessive bathing is not recommended.

Methotrexate has been used to treat very severe cases such as yours but this treatment should be taken only under medical supervision, preferably in a hospital.

Although psoriasis is not contagious, heredity is a factor in some cases. Since no other disease closely resembles it, your children probably have psoriasis.

Q-How is a diagnosis of narcolepsy made? Is there a cure for it?

A-The diagnosis is based entirely on a history of uncontrollable sleepiness occurring several times a day. They may come on when a person is sitting, standing or even engaged in conversation. In one form of the disease, when the victim laughs he falls to the ground and, even though conscious, he may be unable to move for a minute or two.

The cause is unknown. There is no cure but the victim may outgrow the attacks after several years. Meanwhile, frequent planned naps throughout the day, and taking amphetamine, may help to minimize the attacks.

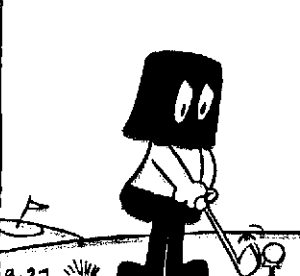

Q-Four men from a local ranch are taking rabies shots because a veterinarian said that bats are among the worst carriers of this disease. How great is the risk? Our doctor says it is more important for a rancher to have tetanus shots. What do you think?

A-Rabies is a very serious disease and it may be transmitted by a bat bite. Persons who are at risk of being bitten by bats or any other rabid animals can be protected by a new HEP (high egg passage) or DEV (duck embryo) vaccine. The risk of tetanus following any deep wound that has been contaminated with soil is so great that every man, woman and child should have tetanus toxoid.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Etienne de Silhouette, whose hobby was cutting out paper portraits, was French finance minister in 1759. The World Almanac says. Trying to increase revenues, Silhouette's policies were so severe that he was forced to resign after nine months. During this time the arts took on an austerity "a la Silhouette" (on the cheap) so that instead of painting portraits artists simply drew outlines in profile.

Opponents Hits Purcell on 'Slots'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell was challenged Wednesday to investigate the uncovering of 404 slot machines in El Dorado.

Jerry Thomasson, the Republican candidate for attorney general, also was critical of Circuit Court Judge Harry Crumpler's ruling prohibiting the seizure and destruction of the gambling devices.

Thomasson said Purcell had not taken interest in the case. "I wonder if he intends to sit back and wait until the entire state's population descends on him to ask his advice," Thomasson said. "Or does he intend to take the alert action he

God's Word

Come let us go into the House of the Lord

Says Come

GREAT WORDS

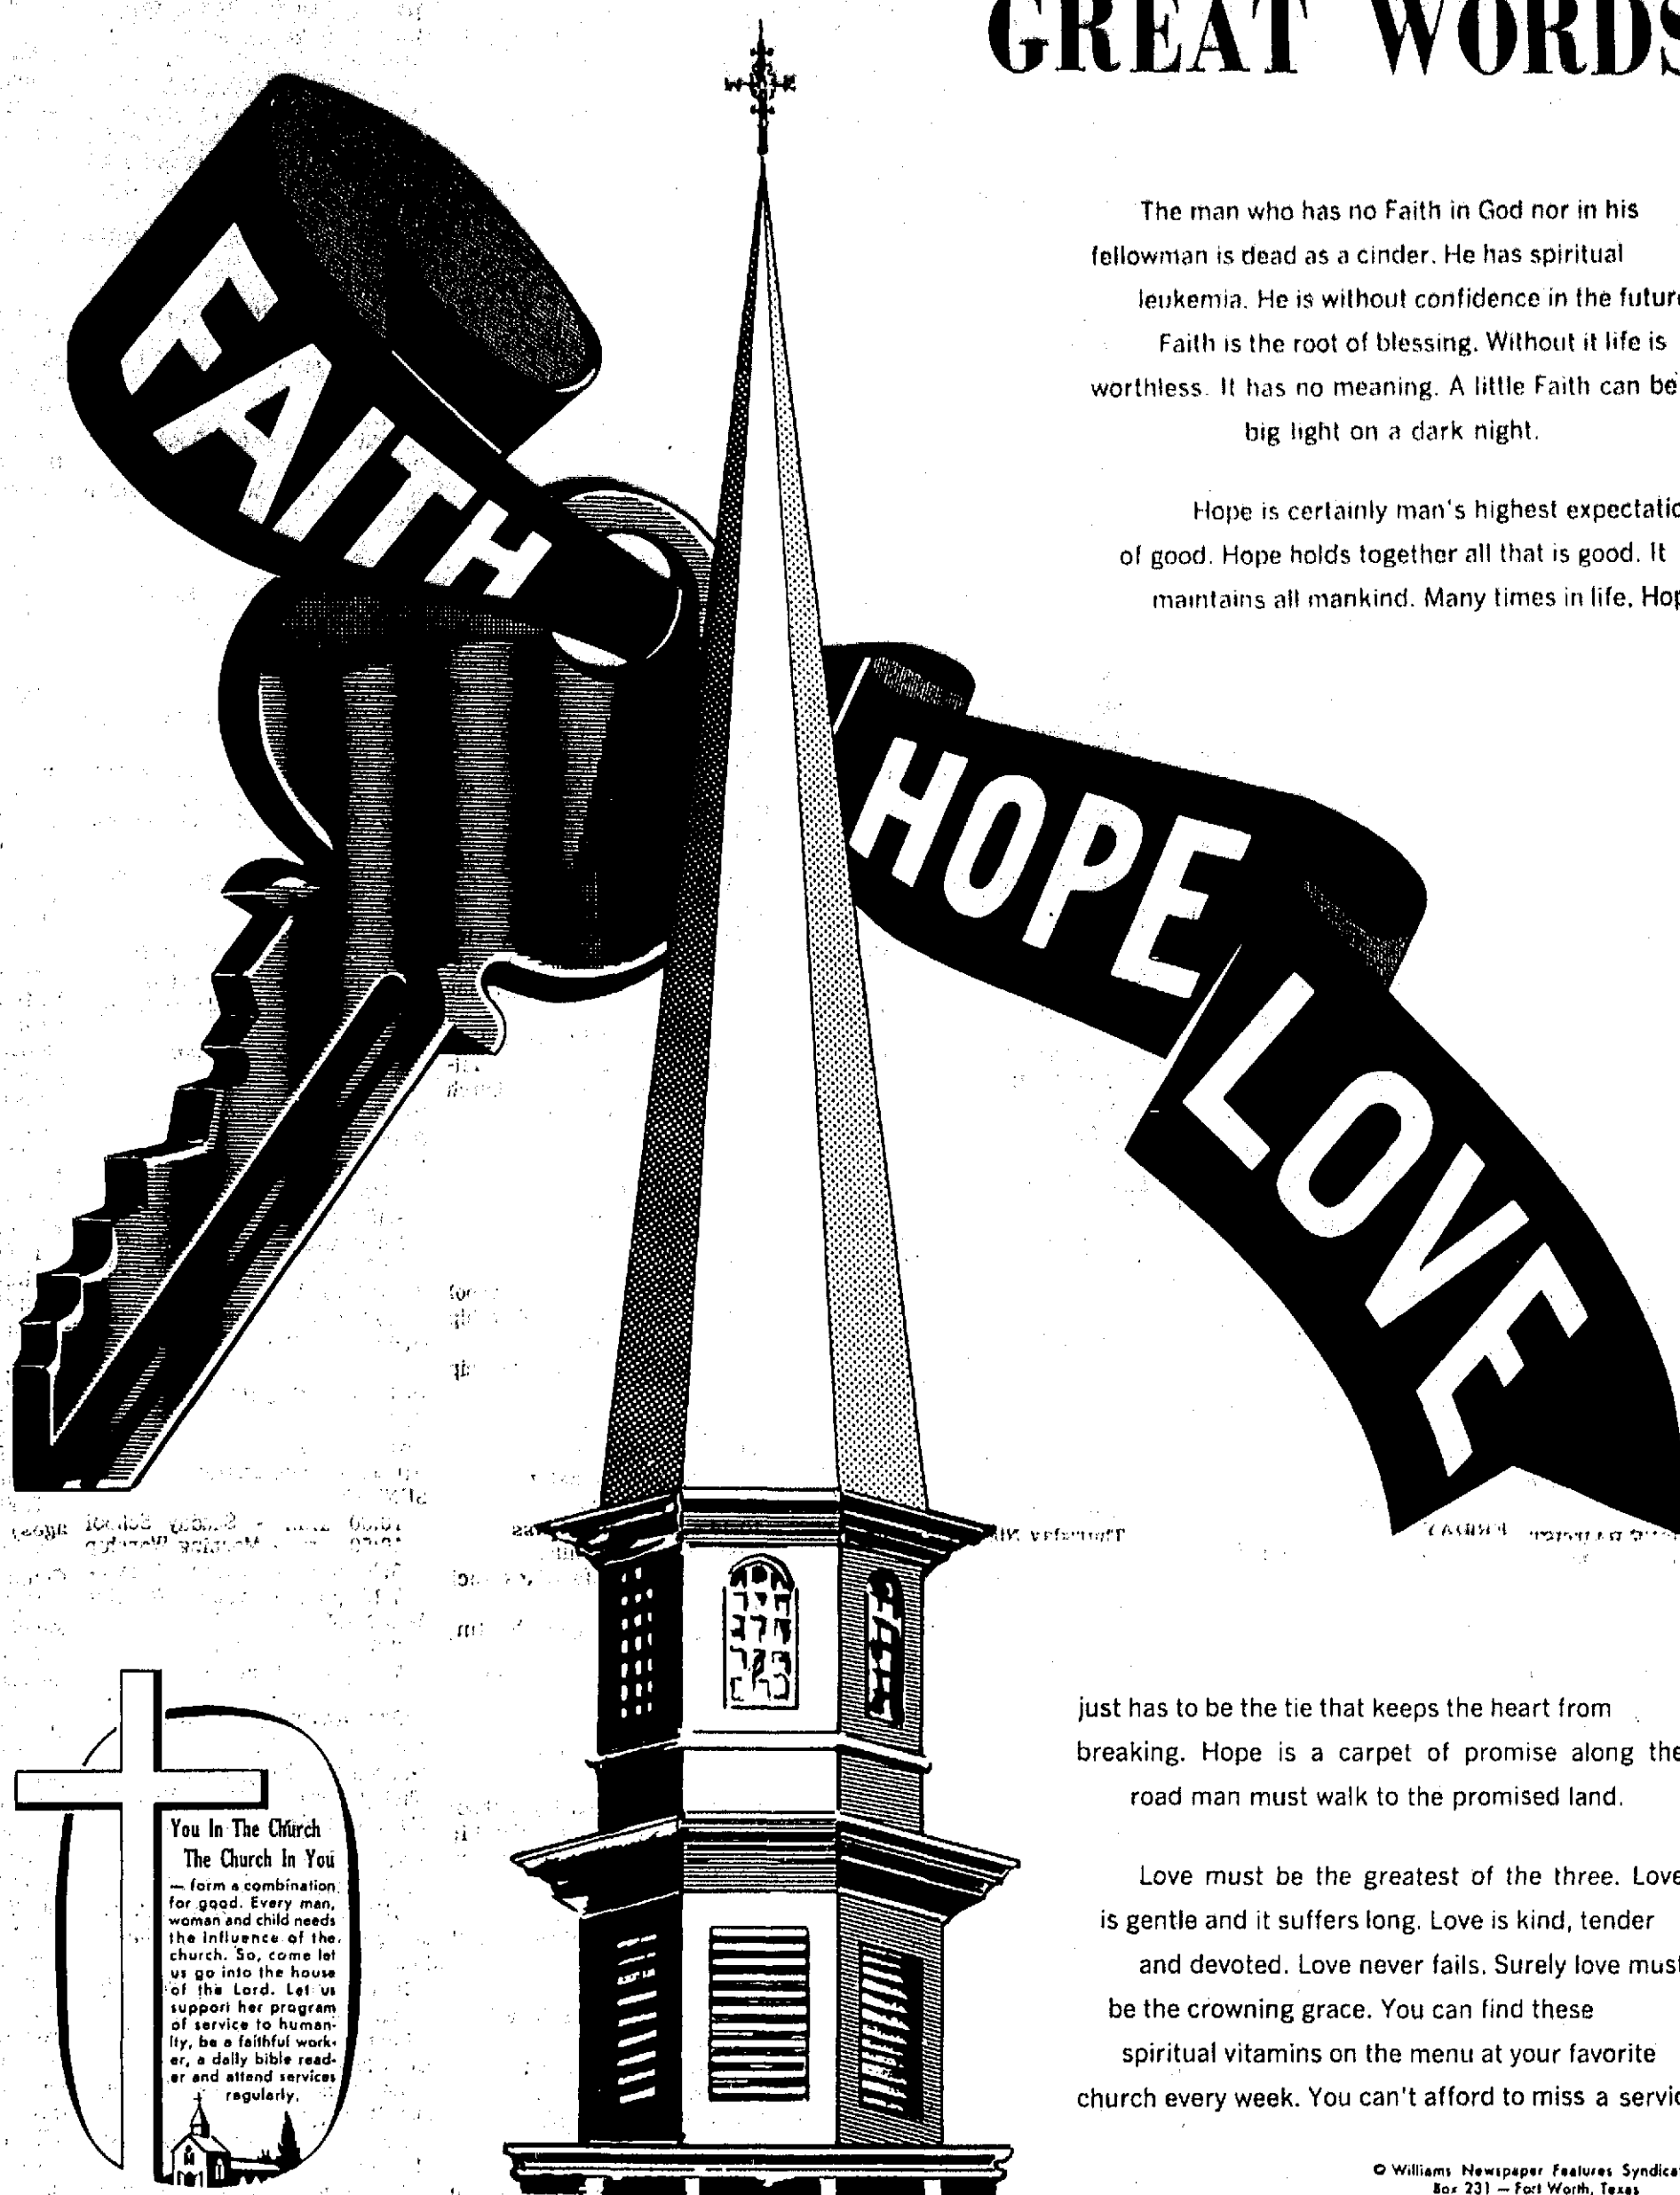

The man who has no Faith in God nor in his fellowman is dead as a cinder. He has spiritual leukemia. He is without confidence in the future. Faith is the root of blessing. Without it life is worthless. It has no meaning. A little Faith can be a big light on a dark night.

Hope is certainly man's highest expectation of good. Hope holds together all that is good. It maintains all mankind. Many times in life, Hope just has to be the tie that keeps the heart from breaking. Hope is a carpet of promise along the road man must walk to the promised land.

Love must be the greatest of the three. Love is gentle and it suffers long. Love is kind, tender and devoted. Love never fails. Surely love must be the crowning grace. You can find these spiritual vitamins on the menu at your favorite church every week. You can't afford to miss a service.

Portugal Quiet in Ruler Switch

By KENNETH L. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
LISBON (AP) — Portugal's new premier made few changes in Antonio Salazar's government today, and the politically apathetic Portuguese showed no initial excitement at the replacement of the dictator who had ruled them for 40 years.

After a week of anticipation, President Americo Thomaz announced Thursday night he had appointed Marcello Caetano, 62-year-old law professor and longtime associate of Salazar, to replace the prime minister who has been in a coma since a stroke on Sept. 16.

Caetano already had given Thomaz the go-ahead to reappoint all of Salazar's Cabinet except four ministers and two undersecretaries. The few changes gave observers no clue to any changes in policy the new prime minister might have in mind.

In the memory of most Portuguese, Salazar has always kept a tight rein on politics, and a 50-year-old civil servant seemed to sum up the attitude of many: "If President Thomaz decided this way, it is because it was the only way to decide. I accept it and I hope it turns out for the best."

A 45-year-old tire factory worker expressed another widespread reaction: "If Caetano means more money, more bread, less work and less sacrifice, okay, I welcome him."

A 19-year-old Lisbon University student, opposed to the Salazar regime, said: "They changed the name but the forces running the country are the same. For me Caetano was simply the lesser of about five evils."

Patrons in cafes crowded around television sets when Thomaz made his announcement, but there was no excitement.

Lisbon's movie houses, amusement parks, nightclubs and the streets were crowded as usual and apparently few if any people stayed home to hear the president.

Caetano is widely known, having been Salazar's right-hand man in the 1950s and later the strong-willed rector of Lisbon University. Typical comments being heard about him were "clever man... smart guy."

"I hear Caetano is very intelligent," said a barman. "If that's the case, why not have him in power, since the poor old man is in such bad condition?"

"This country would have been a mess without Salazar," one woman said, "but nobody lives forever."

Thomaz in his speech said even if the 79-year-old Salazar survives, "there is no hope of his being able to carry out his high duties in full again."

Caetano inherits from Salazar, tranquility, a balanced budget, a cautious approach to modernization, extreme poverty among most of the people, and a colonial war in Africa.

Per capita income still is below the $700 dividing line between developed and underdeveloped nations. But farms have begun to get tractors. Illiteracy among school-age children is less than one per cent, health is improved and the escudo is among the world's strong currencies.

Censorship helps to put a brake on pressures for change, and the political police keep the political opposition in check.

Political observers look for some changes from Caetano, but only slight ones and only after he has gained a firm base of support within the armed forces. For one thing, they feel he may eventually be more liberal toward Portugal's African territories, where more than 40 per cent of the government's budget is being spent fighting nationalist guerrillas.

Caetano's new defense minister, Gen. Horacio de sa Viana Rebelo, is a former governor of one of those territories, Angola. Caetano also chose a new man to supervise press censorship, Cesar Moreira Baptista, Alfred Vaz Pinto, head of the Portuguese airline TAP and an old friend, will become Caetano's right hand as minister of state.

Chualo to Get Shot at Big Time

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — George Chualo, a winner at last in a major fight, may take on Jerry Quarry, Floyd Patterson or Buster Mathis in Madison Square Garden Nov. 14.

The durable Canadian heavyweight champion, always an attraction because of his willingness to trade punches and a loser in his important fights, was back in the limelight today on his fifth-round technical knockout of Mexico's Manuel Ramos at the Garden Thursday night.

Mathis, in the co-featured bout, came from behind and stopped James J. Woody of New York in 2:59 of the sixth round after doing virtually nothing but dance around the ring for five rounds.

"I'm going to try and match Chualo with Jerry Quarry, Floyd Patterson or Buster Mathis for Nov. 14," said matchmaker Teddy Brenner. "Chualo was supposed to have fought Quarry instead of Ramos but Quarry couldn't make it because of a bad back. I hear he's back in the gym and I'll try and make it. If not it will be either Patterson or Mathis."

"I'd love to take on that Chualo," said Mathis, who watched the Canadian's triumph after his own fight.

Buster, down to 223 pounds to his opponent's 203½, made up lost ground with a fiery attack that dropped his smaller foe and brought the referee to Woody's rescue.

Chualo, a loser to Cassius Clay, Patterson, Ernie Terrell, Eduardo Corleto, Oscar Bonavena and Joe Frazier, looked like a world-beater against Ramos, another Frazier victim. Both Chualo and Ramos had been stopped by Frazier, the five-state heavyweight champion from Philadelphia, in their last Garden appearances. And Ramos, who had staggered Frazier before being bombed out in two rounds, was an 8-5 favorite over the perennial loser.

Picks Hogs to Win by 21 to 10

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Imagine a Frank Broyles-coached Arkansas team throwing 25 times in one half.

Now, imagine those same Razorbacks going up against Tulsa, NCAA passing champion the past five years.

No matter how important the passing game is, the running attack will probably be the difference.

In fact, it was Tulsa's ability to run on the Porkers which carried the Hurricane to a 14-12 upset last year.

Cee Ellison, who hurt Arkansas several times last year, returns. Johnny Dobbs, son of Tulsa Coach Glenn Dobbs, will probably do the pitching for the Hurricane. He has capable receivers in Gary Wood, who caught 53 passes, including 10 for touchdowns last year, and junior college transfer Joe Pistola.

For once Arkansas may be able to watch Tulsa through the air. Bill Montgomery, who completed 16 of 31 last week will be aiming at tight end Mike Sigman, flanker Chuck Dicus and split end Max Peacock.

Tailbacks Bill Burnett, David Dickey and Russell Cody should combine with fullback Bruce Maxwell to give the Porkers the edge on the ground, Arkansas 21-10.

Arkansas State University opens its home season Saturday against Eastern Michigan University in what could be a matchup of passing quarterbacks. The Indians' James Hamilton passed for 353 yards and four touchdowns last week in ASU's 46-14 victory over Drake.

Eastern Michigan's Arnold Fontes threw for four touchdowns in the Hurons' 46-16 victory over Morningside. ASU 23, EASTERN MICHIGAN 20.

Arkansas A&M had little trouble with Mississippi Valley last week, but coach Van Johnson expects Lincoln University to supply more of a test at Jefferson City, Mo. The Lions' Edward Cross, who caught four touchdowns passes last week, figures to show Lincoln what a top receiver looks like.

John C. Tullio, from Aurora, Ohio, bowed to Mack Brothers Jr., a veteran from Nashville, Tenn.

Tullio had fired back-to-back 73s in the two qualifying rounds. But Brothers applied the pressure early and rolled to a convincing 4-2 victory, one of the few clear-cut decisions of the day.

Five of the 16 matches went into overtime, with a real marathon developing between Walter A. Dowell and Knox M. Young.

Dowell, from Walnut Ridge, Ark., and Young, playing out of Pittsburgh, Pa., were even in holes after the first 18. It took seven more to break the tie.

Dowell won with a par four on the 25th hole, when Young carded a five.

In other extra-hole matches, Curtis Person, a veteran tourney performer from Memphis, Tenn., nosed out Donald O. Brien, Richmond, Va., on the 20th hole, one-up.

Not Our Petition
But We Endorse It;
More Letters

Your editor knows nothing about the sufficiency of the local option petition which was certified by the county clerk and on which a local dry organization gives notice of challenge in today's Star.

I did not circulate the petition, was not even asked to sign it — perhaps because it was a foregone conclusion I would support the wet side anyway, which is correct.

Your editor did sponsor the first and successful local option petition, in 1936, when Hempstead voted wet and remained so for 10 years. Because of other events I was unable to help with the petitions of 1946 and 1956, but supported them in the elections — losing in both of them. What happens this time remains to be seen.

However, if the current petition should be found deficient it would merely delay an eventual vote, which is a certainty. There will always be petitions and voting while Hempstead county remains legally dry.

It can't be any other way — considering the trade disadvantage placed on Hope by neighboring wet Texarkana. Furthermore, it is humiliating to continue to accept the benefits of liquor taxation, as Hempstead county does, from areas which do shoulder the responsibility and cost of policing sales.

Following are some letters we have received on the local option question:

Editor The Star: Hempstead county voters have the opportunity on November 5 to repeal their own small version of the Volstead Act (Prohibition). I said "opportunity" and that is the correct word. This "Wet or Dry" thing is not the issue. Neither is morality, who drinks, or a dozen other false stumbling blocks placed in the path.

The facts and the issues are as follows: We are now a wet county. Illegally so, perhaps, but nonetheless wet. The absence of a liquor store doesn't make an area dry. Hempstead county has numerous illegal alcoholic beverage outlets.

I heard a minor complain not long ago that "the price of a cold beer in Hope was 50c and isn't that outrageous?" I witnessed a sale of whisky in Hope a while back to someone visiting our city within two blocks of the police station.

Hope dry? Hardly! Hope and Hempstead county are as dry as the people want them. Not even an ostrich can hide from that. So the issue is legal alcoholic drinks versus illegal alcoholic drinks, tax money in Texarkana or here at home, profits in the hands of an out-of-towner or a home town citizen who pays taxes and supports our community.

With a few locally licensed and policed outlets in Hempstead county the illegal traffic would be minimized and our citizens could stop commuting to neighboring towns and taking a lot of side business with them.

Does this make our preachers wrong? Certainly not. They are opposed to drinking and cannot condone it anywhere. I do believe, however, that they are grossly mistaken if they think keeping legal liquor from our town will make it dry.

The unequally yoked team of the preachers and the bootleggers abetted by the Texarkana merchants will be heard from. Let's not bow to an emotional appeal. This is a decision to be made logically.

Wet or Dry? Not the issue. Legal or illegal? Here or There? — That's the issue. Sincerely,
ROBERT L. MOERS

New Program to Work on 'Drop-Outs'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Upward Bound, widely regarded as one of the bright successes in the war on poverty, is outward bound.

The program, which takes potential school dropouts and helps them go on to college, is being taken away from the anti-poverty agency by congress and given to the Office of Education next year.

Riots Cost Thousands Schooling

Thousands of pupils in schools across the country are missing instruction because of racially tinged disorders which have disrupted classes.

In Boston, young Negroes in the Roxbury slum section have been on a rampage of beatings, robberies and looting that have reached into private homes.

The disorders which have brought one death, injury to 36 persons including 14 policemen and scores of arrest, began after Negro high school students were refused permission Monday to wear African native dress to classes.

Thursday a husband and wife were beaten in their home, a man was robbed of $150 in daylight on the street, and firemen were made the targets of stones and bottles.

City officials hoped to curb the disturbances with the aid of an influential segment of young people in the Negro community.

In Seattle, the city's troubled Washington Junior High School may reopen Monday with a security task force of parents and community workers.

The school had been the scene of three days of thefts, beatings and classroom terror when Supt. Forbes Bottomly ordered it closed for the week on Wednesday afternoon.

An emergency meeting Thursday night between parents, school officials and teachers arrive at the task force proposal.

New York Mayor John V. Lindsay said today he expected the city's public schools to be open Monday for 1.1 million pupils after a 10-day teacher strike that has racial overtones.

The largely white teachers' union is pitted against predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican forces seeking total community control of local schools including the power to hire and fire teachers.

But Albert Shanker, head of the union, said only that a Monday opening was possible providing that outstanding issues in a peace settlement could be agreed on.

In New Jersey racial problems led to student boycotts at three high schools including Trenton High School where two-thirds of the students did not report to classes Thursday.

It was the fourth shutdown of the school in the last nine months. This time the trouble stemmed from a boycott by several hundred white students protesting alleged assaults by Negro students.

Britain's Ideal Bar Maid Visits U.S. — and Sets Up Column

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Britain's "ideal barmaid" is visiting here to see how the lads behind the mahogany on this side of the Atlantic pour the sauce.

"They're quick," admitted Margaret Winfield, "but they waste a lot. With what they spill I could make another drink. If a drop goes on the floor, it's no good to anyone, is it?"

Barmaids are traditional in England, and Margaret had a real battle of the taps to win the title of pub queen of the tight little Isles. She won over 3,000 contestants.

"We were judged on personal appearance, drink-mixing skill, tidiness, and friendliness — how well we could chaff the customers," she said.

Margaret is endowed with a robust humor and robust proportions. She is 29, 5 feet 9, weighs 11 stone — or 154 pounds. She has dark eyes and a crown of pale aloe-colored hair.

Married to a lorry driver — they have two children — Margaret reigns during the day over the Eagle Pub, not far from London, which is managed by her mother. She started pulling the pub taps at 15, now gets $14.55 for a 33-hour work week, and is completely happy with her lot in life.

"Mum says I'm worth 20 times my pay," she said. "Over there the pay is all you get. There are no tips, although the customers stand you to a treat now and then."

All Rights to Attend Voter at 18 — Rockefeller

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Thursday that if an 18-year-old is old enough to fight, he is old enough to vote and buy beer.

Rockefeller made the statement on the television program, "Jaycees Present," shown on KATV here Thursday night.

A panelist noted that the governor had expressed support of lowering the voting age from 21 to 18 and asked if he believed other responsibilities and privileges should also go with it, including allowing them to purchase alcoholic beverages.

"I think you've got to be consistent," Rockefeller said. "If he's old enough to fight, he's old enough to drink beer."

"If you give him the voting franchise, all that goes with it ought to be included. I don't see how you can say a youngster has the right to vote and fight and not be able to go out and own property."

Rockefeller added, "A lot of parents are going to be glad to be able to go to the courts and say 'I didn't buy that, my son bought it, you go out and collect from him'."

Earlier in the day, the governor issued a lengthy statement in which he proposed that the state chairmen of the Democratic and Republican parties meet privately to work out a compromise in the dispute over the naming of third members to county boards of election commissioners.

Authenticity is the mark of the festival. There are no carnival rides or wild animals. Only merrymaking that, for a night, could rival the gayest festival of the old world.

France Again Kills British Trade Bid

BRUSSELS (AP) — France again blackballed British membership in the European Common Market today.

Foreign Minister Michel Debre told his five colleagues at a meeting of the European Economic Community's ministerial council that France rejected a West German plan to include Britain and other applicants.

Debre said the French conclusions of December 1967 had not been modified, that France still considered the British economy could not permit entry in the common market.

Earlier, West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt unfolded the West German plan to develop and enlarge the six-member community by including Britain, Denmark, Ireland and Norway.

Refund to Hawkins Ordered

NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Court Judge Bobby Steel has ruled that Sheriff Marlin Hawkins of Conway County is due a refund of $2,188.94 of the $10,082.20 judgment made against him July 6.

The judge ruled on a motion filed by Hawkins' attorney, Jack L. Lessenberry of Little Rock.

Lessenberry said in the motion that it appeared the sheriff was due the refund under the rules of proof which governed a taxpayers suit against the sheriff.

The suit focused on four years in which Hawkins handled more than $60,000 in county funds, the suit said. Steel ruled that Hawkins accounted for all but $10,082.20 in the trial.

Lessenberry said in the motion that apparently through an oversight the judgement awarded against Hawkins was too large by the sum of $2,188.94.

If the payment is made in 10 days, the judge said, no interest will be due to the sheriff. If the payment is made after 10 days, interest shall accrue at the rate of six per cent per annum.

Lessenberry also had filed a motion asserting that the judge improperly acted in connection with another $3,061. He said these funds should be disposed of by justices of the peace. Steel rejected this motion.

City officers Milam and Brown investigated.

Dirksen Hits Fortas; 'No' on Cloture

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major blow to Abe Fortas' chances for confirmation as chief justice was struck today when Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen left open whether he would support him.

Dirksen said he will not vote to cut off debate on a motion to take up Fortas' nomination and told newsmen he might or might not vote for confirmation.

Dirksen was initially an outspoken supporter of President Johnson's nomination of Fortas to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren.

And although Dirksen voted with the majority of the Senate Judiciary Committee in approving the nomination, he said there was "a strict understanding in the committee that the vote did not bind anybody."

Word that Dirksen will not vote to put the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule into effect brought from Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the reaction that "it sure as hell will" make it more difficult to break a filibuster by opponents.

An opponent of the nomination on resumption of debate today called for President Johnson to withdraw the nomination and for Fortas to resign from his present position as associate justice on the high court, which he has held since 1965.

"The stature of the court has been demeaned already by the monumentally poor judgment displayed by the President of the United States and by Justice Fortas since his ascension to a seat on the Supreme Court," Sen. Clifford P. Hansen, R-Wyo., said in a prepared speech.

"I call upon the President of the United States to withdraw the nomination of Abe Fortas to the chief justiceship of the Supreme Court," Hansen said, "and I call upon Mr. Abe Fortas to resign his seat on the Supreme Court immediately."

In another prepared speech, the leader of the fight for confirmation defended Fortas' participation in rulings on obscenity and accused his critics of distorting this role.

Spain to Question U.S. Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spain has put in motion a chain of diplomatic moves that could force the United States to close its military bases in that nation next year.

Negotiations for an extension of the agreement broke off Thursday after 10 days of unsuccessful talks.

Spanish Foreign Minister Fernando Maria Castiella invoked a provision in the expiring pact that will require the United States to begin shutting down the bases in six months if no settlement is reached.

Among the U.S. bases involved is a key harbor for Polaris submarines at Rota on the Atlantic near the entrance to the Mediterranean Sea.

Summit Meet of Big 4 for Peace?

By MILTON BESSER
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Support grew among lesser members of the United Nations today for a Big Four summit meeting proposed by Secretary-General U Thant in an effort to reduce East-West tensions and lessen the threat of nuclear war.

But there was no immediate reaction from the Big Four — the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France — to Thant's suggestion that their foreign ministers meet during the current U.N. General Assembly to pave the way for the top-level talks.

Thant in his annual report of the assembly Thursday night accused both the United States and the Soviet Union of resorting to strong-arm methods when they felt their security threatened.

Many of the smaller U.N. member countries agreed with these words by Thant:

"In reality, the two super powers hold the master key to peace in the world. Little wars, or wars by little states, can be contained so long as the Super Powers do not pose a threat of the big, the nuclear, the ultimate war."

"In the final analysis, there can be no solid foundation for peace in the world so long as the super powers insist on taking unilateral military action whenever they claim to see a threat to their security."

Thant said the presence of U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, British

Cambodian Border Raid Thrown Back

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy forces swarmed out of flooded ricefields close to the Cambodian border today and lost at least 276 of their men in almost suicidal assaults on two well defended South Vietnamese frontier camps.

The two attacking forces totaled about 900 men, and in addition to nearly a third of their men, they left large numbers of rifles, machine guns, grenade launchers, radios and other equipment on the fields of battle.

The defenders reported 11 South Vietnamese killed and 100 wounded. Four American Green Beret men in one of the camps were wounded.

Coinciding with the fierce ground assaults on the camps at Thien Ngon and Phuoc Tan, west of Tay Ninh City, enemy gunners laid a savage barrage of rocket and mortar fire on the Special Forces camp at Katum.

Oven Fire on E. 15th St.

Hope Fire department answered a call at 6:30 Thursday night to 412 East 15th st. where an oven had caught fire. Dry chemicals were used to extinguish the fire which caused little damage.

The rally, attended by about 200 students and sympathizers, started as a memorial to Patrice Lumumba, leftist Congo leader slain in 1961.

It touched off a march toward the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine, a few blocks away, to protest the eviction of seven elderly persons from what demonstrators said was a cathedral-owned residential hotel. Cathedral spokesmen later said the cathedral is in no way connected with the hotel.

The marchers were stopped a block from the cathedral, the largest church in North America, by police. Officers seized one young man carrying a red flag. Cries of, "Let him go!" rang out, and scuffles began. Four more persons were arrested before the outbreak quieted.

The demonstrators returned to the campus, where attempts were made to break into Low Memorial Library, where most administration offices are housed. A glass door was smashed, and one young man was injured when he broke a window in the library by slamming his arm through it. He was arrested.

The protesters then dashed across campus to Ferris Booth Hall where Dr. Carl F. Howde, dean of Columbia College, was conducting a panel discussion by about 300 students and faculty members on the state of the college and the university.

When the demonstrators burst into the meeting, Howde told them: "All are welcome, all of you who just came in, believe me."

Petition on Liquor Vote Faces Test

Rev. Gordon Renshaw, president of the Hempstead County Christian Civic Foundation, a "dry" organization composed of certain ministers and laymen opposed to the sale of liquor in Hempstead County, said today that his organization had employed legal counsel and was having a detail check made of the signatures on the local option petitions which were filed recently.

The law requires that such petitions, in order to call an election on the subject, must be signed by 15 per cent or more of the legal voters of the county. The statute makes it the duty of the county clerk to decide the sufficiency of the petitions in the first instance, subject to review by the Chancery Court.

On Sept. 6, 1968, Mrs. Pat McCain, Hempstead County Clerk, notified the County Board of Election Commissioners that she found the petitions sufficient for calling of a local option election on the sale of liquor in the county.

Mr. Renshaw said that his organization had no quarrel with Mrs. McCain, and complimented the county clerk and her staff for making a prompt check of the petitions as the law required her to do. He said, however, that he was his understanding that there were a total of 1,507 names on the petitions, and that 1,320 valid signatures were required. He said further he understood that the clerk's count showed 1,350 good signatures, a difference of only 30 over the bare minimum.

With the count that close, and some of them involving a matter of judgment, the foundation decided to have an attorney check the signatures also.

Mr. Renshaw said that once the petitions were filed at the courthouse they became a public record under the law, and were subject to inspection by any interested person or persons.

Mr. Renshaw said the foundation counsel would take a look at all doubtful signatures and advise his organization which ones, in the opinion of counsel, would likely stand up in court and which ones would not, and how many there were of each. He said no decision would be made as to whether or not to ask for a review of the petitions by the Chancery Court until the check of signatures was completed.

New Violence at Columbia University

NEW YORK (AP) — Violence erupted at Columbia University Thursday night following a campus rally staged by the radical Students for a Democratic Society.

The rally, attended by about 200 students and sympathizers, started as a memorial to Patrice Lumumba, leftist Congo leader slain in 1961.
